NO LAW FOR THE REDS.

Mr. Post, assistant secretary of labor, behaved strictly in accord with the principles of the Communists whom he has encouraged to gain a foothold in this country when he ordered the rendition of the Department of Justice and lowered the bonds of those ordered for deportation. Mr. Post explains that his action was due to the knowledge that the department of law was using the strong arm and exceeding its constitutional authority by placing the bail at an exorbitant figure. This is an undignified demonstration of the scorn in which the present department of justice is held. The department supposed to be regarded from manual workers agitators to itself the right of going out the authority of the department which is supposed to be dominated by the best legal minds that money or intimidation can buy in order to protect the interests of the government. Mr. Post, one of the numerous assistant chairmen, exercised the authority which belonged to another department without as much as saying by authority. However, the office appears to have been conducted by the slogan of the judicial end of the government in permitting its orders to be treated with utter contempt. If the legal rights of Mitchell Palmer's office were on the job watching to see that the red aliens were railroaded out of the country according to the orders of equity Mr. Post could not have taken this action on his own account. There was no protest and no explanation and it is probable that the first the department of justice knew of the bonds having been lowered was when the truth developed at the investigation of a Republican inquisition. So eager was Mr. Post to protect his friends, the radicals, that he has been known to send for the papers in deportation cases at the rate of $100 a day that he might cause the warrants. This is but one of the many charges brought against Post in the course of the investigation of his conduct by the House of Representatives. And still he sits at his desk undisturbed by his superiors, the president and secretary of labor, thwarting the course of justice and contributing substantially to the cause of the Reds.

ON THEIR LAST JUNKET.

Looking at the handwriting on the wall the Democrat officeholders are determined to squeeze the administration lemon dry before they are thrust from office by the incoming landslide of Republican reformation. Intoxicated with the financial debauch of the past seven years when billions rolled out of the public treasury like so much water through the Gaiety locks they seem to know no limit to extravagance and as a growing act of their perfidy a number of the most active pillagers are now organizing a trip around the world at the expense of the people. Representative Randall, Democrat and Prohibitionist of California, who was always with the Democrats in the House of Representatives, is the father of the movement to take a junketing party to the Orient this summer. The Democrats are sending out political propaganda nowadays trying to make it appear that this junket to the Orient is a Republican proposition. The fact is that it is not, and on the contrary, but very few Republican members of the House have signified their intention of going. Up to date about 65 members of Congress have signified their intention of making the trip and of these sixty-five nearly all are Democrats. The propaganda being put out by the Democratic National committee is false according to members of Congress who are keeping tabs on the party. Republican members of Congress feel that this is the year for them to remain at home and attend to public business which has been so sadly neglected since the entry of Mr. Wilson and his cormorants.

ASSERTING STATE RIGHTS.

Senator Ashurst, Democrat of Arizona, was in a truly insurrectionary spirit when it was rumored that Carranza troops were to be allowed to travel through his state en route to suppress the uprising in Sonora. His partisan attachment to President Wilson, the administration and Democracy in general took sudden flight when he beheld the possibility of his state being invaded by an armed foreign force. He expressed the hope that the government would strong arm. Fortunately the request of the Carranza government through his state. "The time has come," exclaimed Ashurst, "when, if Arizona is to have no protection from the federal government the state is going to protect herself with her own good strong arm." Fortunately the request of the Carranza government was denied by the state department and a clash avoided, but the incident goes to show the intense feeling in the border states against the supine policy that has been followed by Mr. Wilson. Party politics go by the board the moment adherence to them brings danger to their own fireside.

NO PEACE IN THE LEAGUE.

Further friction between members of the league of nations is indicated in the refusal of Great Britain and France to accede to the request of Japan that the latter be allowed certain railroad concessions in China. England, France and the United States appear to be uniting against Japanese domination in China. A loan of $25,000,000 is in process of negotiation between the bankers of the three countries and the Chinese republic, which will insure a concert of interests opposed by Japanese schemes. Nevertheless it can hardly be expected that Japanese ambitions for expansion to the westward will be abandoned. They will only smoulder until a favorable moment presents itself for exploitation once more. All of which presages a merry time within the council of the league of nations.

"Keep out of Mexican affairs but meddle in Europe," is the Wilsonian policy. In other words pass up the job that calls for your attention and seek one that is none of your business.

The popular vote in Georgia was two to one against the Wilsonian defender. And that was the state of Wilson's boyhood days.

Attorney General Palmer appealed to the people of Georgia for support as the candidate of the administration and in behalf of the Wilson league covenant and got hit with a boomerang. Only a little more than a third of the Democratic voters lined up for him. Fortunately, down at bottom, the American people are American, whether they live in Georgia or some other part of the country.

Mr. McAdoo's talks about reduction of taxes would ring with a good deal more sincerely if he hadn't helped pile these selfsame taxes on the American people while he was Secretary of the Treasury. Likewise if he hadn't been chiefly responsible as Director of Railways for the billion dollar deficit incurred by the railway administration which the American public has to meet out of its own pocket.

INNOCENT MAN SUFFERS DEATH

CLEVELAND, May 16.—The family of the Walter Andrew Watson case in California involving the alleged murder of five women, who were to have married, extended to Portland today involve a claim by Mrs. North Ackerman, living here, that Watson is the real murderer of Mrs. Hattie McCloud, a widow of Shelbourne Falls, Mass. In 1898, for which her brother, Jack O'Neil, was convicted and hanged.

Mrs. Ackerman was a resident of Shelbourne Falls until a few years ago.

FRONTIER DAY REVIVED

BURNS, Ore., May 16.—Frontier days will be revived here May 24 and 25, during the convention of the Oregon State Cattle and Horse Raisers' association. C. M. Faulkner, president of the Burns Commercial club, has announced that the town will belong to the cattlemen.

She charged that Watson lived there at the time of the murder of Mrs. McCloud and that he was then known as Newton Harvey. She is planning to get in touch with Prosecutor Thomas Woolwine of Los Angeles to have Watson questioned in connection with the death of Mrs. McCloud, in an effort to clear her dead brother's name.
